

Pearson Connected Leaders

BIODATA

Leonor Corradi

Leonor Corradi is an English teacher; she holds a Master's degree in Education and Teacher Training (Surrey University, UK), and a post degree in Education and ICT. Former member of the Foreign Languages Team at the National Ministry of Education, in charge of English, lecturer in Didactics at IES en Lenguas Vivas Juan Ramón Fernández and ISP Joaquín V. González, and coordinator of state plurilingual schools in the City of Buenos Aires. She has extensive experience as materials designer and coursebook writer, and is an academic consultant for different educational institutions. She has also written a number of academic articles for different publications.

Leonor has run professional development sessions and has presented extensively at national and international conferences. She has also worked at a State Special Needs School teaching English to blind students as a pilot project. She has coordinated the creation of online materials for language teaching and has acted as an online tutor for different seminars. Ms Corradi is the author of the Curriculum for Foreign Languages for the City of BA (2001, English); she has also worked in the creation and reforms of curriculum designs at different teacher training colleges and provinces, has been an ELTon Judge since 2014 and is a Global Scale of English Ambassador.